다음 글에서 필자가 주장하는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

As your boss, I am very proud of you all. I appreciate your creative ideas and great efforts to make the best products in the world. Our company has become one of the biggest global car manufacturers for over forty years. We can see our cars running on every corner of the world. In many Asian and African countries, our cars are very successful because of their excellent quality and relatively low prices. But we can't stop here. We shouldn't be satisfied with what we have accomplished so far. We should move forward just as we have moved. Above all, we need to develop different types of cars which will use alternative fuels like hydrogen and electricity. I politely demand that we as one should make every effort to make our future a bright one. I once again give all my thanks to you and your families.

- ① 최고가 되려면 창조적인 아이디어와 엄청난 노력이 필요하다.

다음 글의 요지로 가장 적절한 것은?

Korea used to have two nicknames: one was ‘the Land of Morning Calm’, and the other was ‘an Eastern Country of Good Manners’. The first nickname can not be applied to Korea anymore because it is now one of the most active and productive countries in the world, which I like very much. But when it comes to the second one, I feel sad and ashamed. Korea has lost many of its good manners. For example, in buses and subways, young people don’t offer their seats to seniors in their seventies or eighties. When I was a teenager, it was almost like a natural law for young people to offer seats to seniors in a bus or a subway. I miss those old days and hope strongly that we Koreans will regain the second nickname sooner or later.

- ① We should offer seats to old people in public transportation.
- ② Korea is still known for a land of courtesy.
- ③ Koreans should try to be more active and productive.
- ④ It is important for Koreans to restore good manners.
- ⑤ Good manners and development are closely connected.

다음 글의 제목으로 가장 적절한 것은?

A fisherman named Tim Brown met one of his friends 14 years after he had first met him. Actually his friend is not a human being but a fish. 14 years ago, he caught a fish weighing 11.5 kg in 1999. It was a *carp. He made a mark on the head of the big fish and released it back into the water. Recently, he succeeded in catching a 25 kg carp again. When Mr. Brown saw the carp, he noticed that it was the very carp he had caught 14 years ago. It had the mark on its head that he had made. The carp grew twice as big as it was before. Mr. Brown said hello to the carp and once again released it into the lake. He said, “When I saw the carp again, I felt like it was a friend of mine. That’s why I let him go again instead of taking it home.”

*carp : 잉어

One day, a king met a buddhist monk at his palace. The king knew that he came to ask him to help with the construction of a new temple. But the king wanted to know how wise and humble the monk was. He said to the monk that he looked like a pig. The king expected that the monk would be angry at him and go back to his temple. But he was wrong. The monk didn't get angry, saying, "Your Majesty! You look like Buddha. Seeing you is just like seeing Buddha." The king was surprised at the monk's wise answer and said, "I said you look like a pig, but you aren't angry. Instead, you praised me by saying that I am like Buddha. How can this happen?" The monk said with a gentle smile, "Your Majesty! _____."

- ① If I was a pig, you would be one, too
② There is no difference between a pig and Buddha
③ A king is to a monk what a pig is to Buddha
④ You need a new temple for national security
⑤ As a pig only sees pigs, Buddha only sees Buddhas

People think that dinosaurs and reptiles are similar in many ways, but they are not. First, dinosaurs were much larger than reptiles such as the lizards we have today. Moreover, the legs of most reptiles today are on the sides of their body, while dinosaurs' legs were at the bottom of their bodies, which enabled them to stand up like humans. The most obvious difference is this: reptiles control their body temperature by using the environment. On the other hand, dinosaurs controlled their own body temperature. They did not depend on their surroundings. With all of these facts, we can conclude that dinosaurs and reptiles today _____.

다음 글에서 밑줄 친 your wonderful container가 가리키는 것으로 가장 적절한 것은?

Women usually use many kinds of cosmetics to keep their skin 'trouble-free'. They use toners, lotions, creams and sunscreens. Each cosmetic may contain at least 30 chemicals, some of which can cause irritations or allergic reactions. If you use five different products for your skin at the same time, you actually mix up over 100 kinds of chemicals. The skin is the essential barrier between our internal organs and the outside world. It is a remarkable protector, but it can be hurt because of the many chemicals in your cosmetics. You should pay great attention and respect to your wonderful "container." Just two products, a gentle cleanser and a good sunscreen, are enough daily skin care for most people, especially for women.

When we need information, we often buy books to get the information. But there are so many books that it is not easy to find the books with the right information you need. Here are some helpful tips to find the right books for you.

First, you should avoid purchasing a book just because of its title or advertisements in newspapers and on TV. Book publishers try to attract people's attention with exaggerated titles and advertisements. Don't ever trust the best-selling book list. Publishers sometimes buy their own book back right after its release in order to make it a best-selling one in a short period of time.

A good way to buy books which will meet your need is to know exactly what information you need before going to a bookstore. The next step is to find out whether or not the book you choose contains the information you need. Looking into the contents of the book will help you a lot to find the right book for your purpose.
